Associated Press

It also was learned to-day from an unimpeachable source that Marion "Betsy" Conforti, known as Van Meter's girl friend for some time, was a St. Paul two weeks ago in the company of the slain gangster. Miss Conforti, who was one of the three women arrested at Little Bohemia, Wis., when John Dillinger, Van Meter and several henchmen escaped a federal trap, is wanted by federal authorities for violating her parole at Madison, Wis.

Rumors, Caused By Visit of Trade Mission to Manchukuo, Declared Baseless

J. M. CAMPBELL PASSES AWAY

School Trustee and Former Teacher Widely Mourned; Long in Public Service

LATE J. M. CAMPBELL

J. M. Campbell, school trustee, former teacher and public school principal, to whom thousands of Victorians and ex-Victorians owe much for the part he played in their education and moral training, died.

He died at 6:30 o'clock yesterday evening at his residence, 1409 Ryan street, where he has been ill for several weeks. Death was not unexpected. His family had been remaining close to him for some time, as they knew of the hopelessness of his condition.

His teaching career here extended over generations. In recent years he had been teaching the children of the boys and girls he had taught here in his earlier days. His life has been held up as one of inimitable service to the moulding of youth, and for the example it set of a young man's devotion.

Canadian Ministers Greet Visitors to 400th Anniversary of Landing of Canada's Discoverer of the fighters' work was greatly increased. At various times the only protection which homes in the vicinity had was their domestic water supply.

At intervals during the late afternoon and evening it was necessary to concentrate the work of large gangs near the homes of Fred Duval, Major E. H. MacQueen and P. T. Huxford. About three-quarters of an hour after the outbreak, the office of Dr. J. E. Finckel, director of the Observatory, was seriously threatened by sweeping flames from across the road, at the summit of the mountain. The building, however, was saved by the timely arrival of the entire gang of men.

The fire fighting was directed by R. B. P. Swell, municipal clerk and deputy fire marshal, and Major-General E. C. Anderson, O.C. Military District No. 11, who had charge of the P.P.C.L. forces which lent assistance.

The fire was first sighted by a municipal truck driver about 2.45 o'clock. It saw flames and smoke on the west side of West Beach Road, in the vicinity of Mr. Duval's home, and within a short time the flames reached close to the Observatory, containing thousands of dollars' worth of valuable instruments.

With the Observatory in imminent danger all forces were concentrated in preventing the flames from crossing the road again near the summit, and after about an hour and a half of fighting, this was prevented.

With a change in the slight breeze, the fire turned back and started down the mountainside, approaching the Hutchinson and MacQueen homes, and Hugh Little's premises, on both sides of Observatory Road.

Some of the valuables were taken from the Little home, but again the fighters halted the flames and saved the house.

In the meantime, at the base of the mountain and on both sides of the West Beach Road the fire spread rapidly in all directions.

At the base of the road were turned back by burning and other vehicles using the highway were re-routed to the Royal Oak junction of the East and West Beach roads, and the municipal forces were kept busy all day and night turning hundreds of cars which had come to the fire.

THREATENED VISIT SCENE

Large clouds of smoke were clearly visible from the city, but the thousands that went out were not allowed through police lines, established later in the evening at the junction of the old and new West Beach.

The lack of water considerably hampered the fighters' efforts, which left the Observatory in flames, and the path of the flames. At Mr. Duval's home the fire reached within a few yards of two of his children's bedrooms.

Fortunately there was a strip of grassy land between the flames and the house, and the men were able to plough up a large patch, which prevented the flames from reaching the house. This was accomplished by hitting a hand pump in one of the municipal trucks.

The spread of the flames near the base of the mountain at the Observatory Road station was unchecked until after 8 o'clock, by which time it had proceeded through the entrance gates and burned out the station in this vicinity.

THREE TAKEN DOWN

This morning Spanish relief gangs were being employed with the cutting of dangerous trees along the highway which were burned at the base and which threatened to fall across the road.

Fortunately P. E. Cummings, of the Spanish police, had a narrow escape yesterday evening about 8 o'clock, when the light pole near the entrance gate to the Observatory burned through at the base and fell partly onto the road. The lines, however, kept it from completing the fall.

At 10 p.m. lines in the area were finally cut by the S.C. Electric trouble trucks, and so far as was known, the breaking of the one pole.

He was employed by the city as a teacher and carried off the Governor-General's medal.

London, Aug. 24.—The story of the French-Canadian under British rule is one of the most remarkable in Imperial history," said The Times today in a leading editorial devoted to the Gaspé celebrations of the 50th anniversary of the landing of Jacques Cartier.

"Upon a hazy racial French and French in tradition, the inhabitants of Quebec have built up their own unique community. They have not been crushed into a pseudo-English mold. They remain themselves, and yet they fit admirably into the whole Canadian order."

"In Quebec the people live their own deep-rooted lives, keeping their own customs without risk of any weakening in their heritage, proud of themselves but also proud to be good Canadians. This surely is a triumph of empire building."

A half-hour broadcast over Canadian Radio Commission channels will describe the ceremonies for the rest of Canada at 7 p.m., Victoria time, today.

Johnson Confers With Roosevelt and Differences Over Reorganization of Recovery Programme Being Straightened Out

Washington, Aug. 24.—Speedy agreement over the future of NRA seemed likely today.

Hugh A. Johnson, vice, Eagle head, planned to fly back to the capital for a conference with President Roosevelt. Donald H. Richberg and Secretary of Labor Perkins. Some officials said differences over the reorganization of the recovery administration would evaporate and that a programme for the future may be reached within forty-eight hours.

Johnson, who has been on vacation at Bethany Beach, Delaware, denied with emphasis there had been any "breakdown" in the NRA.

One version of the dispute says a chief point at issue is whether the NRA should be reorganized as a department of the interior, or whether the administrator should have the power, with the board advising.

Richberg and Mrs. Perkins are said to lean toward board rule. Important matters of policy are believed to depend on this decision, which, in the final analysis, is in the President's hands.

Reorganization of the NRA, officials say they expect Johnson to set up as administrator until the new set up is functioning.

While the speculation over NRA reorganization has been going on, a decision came forward with an order designed to eliminate "red tape." The new order, which came down today, could be converted into a set of new NRA, shortened the procedure in anti-trust cases before it.

DELAY OCCURS AT EXECUTION

Three Charges of Current Required to Electrocute Negro

Associated Press

Rockyview, Ky., Aug. 24.—A breakdown of the electrical equipment interrupted the electrocution of Will Chaney, Louisville negro, early today, after two charges of current had been passed through his body and the physicians had called for a third one.

Chaney entered the chamber shortly after midnight and the first charge was given at 12.50 a.m. Chaney followed by a second. Physicians who examined the body said Chaney was not dead. It was found then that a coupling had slipped between the generator and the dynamo, and a delay was necessary. The physicians again examined Chaney, and pronounced him dead.

The electrocution of George W. Tichner, thirty-seven, of Sharnburg, was postponed about an hour while repairs were being made.

DE VALERA IS MAKING MOVE

Canadian Press

New York, Aug. 24.—A Dublin cable to The New York Times today says efforts to reopen negotiations between the De Valera government and the United Kingdom have been made during the last few weeks.

The cable quotes from The Republic, official newspaper of the Irish Republic, as follows:

"Eamon De Valera, president of the Free State executive council, is considering the resumption of negotiations with England on the basis of documents of 1922. The right of England to land annuities would be waived if a satisfactory settlement should be reached within the British Empire were reached."

"It is stated that a majority in the Free State cabinet are in favor of a settlement on these lines and that intermediaries have made several journeys between Dublin and London."

(At the time the Anglo-Irish treaty was negotiated by Arthur Griffith, Michael Collins put forward the basis of a proposed settlement known as the "fourteen points" of 1922, while regarding independence, would enter into an association with the British commonwealth of nations, and would be free to trade with the rest of the commonwealth.)

The cable to The Times goes on to say that while there is no concrete report that De Valera has reached the stage suggested, it is known in Dublin that influential persons have been working to bring about a settlement between the Free State and United Kingdom governments. Now for these efforts have succeeded, it is known to state now, The Times cable says.

When provision was made in the city estimates this year for this year, the estimated collections in order to protect their homes. That made the quota for the period up to the end of July $21,500.00, which was exceeded by $4.5 per cent with the $22,025.00 collection.

Collections from sources other than these were also reported to be very favorable up to the end of July, with some showing an increase over those of the 1933 period in virtually every case.

Chief among these were revenue gains of $14,000 on the Scotch Lake Waterworks and $2,000 on the Goldstream system.

Collections from sources other than these were also reported to be very favorable up to the end of July, with some showing an increase over those of the 1933 period in virtually every case.

Chief among these were revenue gains of $14,000 on the Scotch Lake Waterworks and $2,000 on the Goldstream system.

Lumber Trade Extension Plan

Delegation to South Africa Proposed to Develop Markets

A drive into the South African market on behalf of B.C. lumber is now in the making.

Aided by the Empire merchants, the B.C. product in the dominion expects for the first half of the year have reached a new high figure and plans are being drawn up to send a trade delegation there.

This is part of the lumber extension plan carried on jointly by the B.C. and the U.S. provincial governments. The visit of this year, activities in England will be held in London and the delegation to South Africa.

In a market which buys some 100,000,000 feet of lumber a year, the B.C. product is well known. The list of world shippers, but the new drive may reach first results in the first six months of the year. B.C. alone had shipped 12,500,000 feet of lumber to the southern dominions. Compared with this year's exports of 12,500,000 feet for the entire year of 1933, a 100 per cent increase in 1934.

When the delegation goes, it is proposed to have a trade representative in the field to push the B.C. lumber product.

IA Controversy Causes Roosevelt to Hurry Back to White House

On route with President Roosevelt to Washington, Aug. 24.—President Roosevelt hurried back to the White House yesterday as fresh reports came up of a sharp controversy over reorganization of the I.R.A.

Washington, Aug. 24.—President Roosevelt's chief industrial adviser, Mr. Hugh S. Johnson, declined to discuss reports that he and Hugh S. Johnson, blue in chief, were in a bitter dispute over a new I.R.A. structure.

Troubled for Many Years with Itchy Pimples. Cuticura Healed.

"My face and neck were affected with pimples. The pimples were red and hard and nearly all came to a head. They disfigured my face and at times were very painful. They were itchy, causing me to scratch and irritate the eruptions and sometimes I had sleep through them. I was troubled for many years and used all kinds of treatments to no avail. Then I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. They soon relieved me and now I am completely healed." (Signed) Miss Corneille Davis, 1210 Port St., Victoria, B.C.

GRUDGE TRIAL SAYS MEIGHEN

Claims in Own Defence That Personal Attack Was "Vengeance For Beauharnois"

Canadian Press Toronto, Aug. 24.—"Vengeance for Beauharnois" was proclaimed as the motive for the attack on Mr. Arthur Meighen, former Prime Minister of Canada, culminating in the "Abitibi inquiry" by Mr. Meighen himself as he addressed the commission yesterday.

Mr. Meighen's address brought the inquiry which has been going on for six weeks close to its end. After his Arthur Meighen, commission counsel began a reply.

The whole object of these proceedings for the investigation seemed to be to injure him personally, said Mr. Meighen. A few references dropped by Mr. Meighen to his own part of Ottawa in dealing with the Beauharnois scandal in the Senate had convinced him his vengeance was the motive. It was the first intimation he had given from any source his conduct on that occasion had been unjust.

Absolute confidence in the righteousness of his own actions as a Hydro commissioner was expressed by Mr. Meighen. He said he had previously said in leaving them to be judged by the commission composed of Chief Justice F. R. Lacombe and Hon. Robert B. Borden.

His holding of $2,000 in the bonds of the Ontario Power Service Corporation which had been replaced with Hydro bonds, was also mentioned. He said when the government took over the Abitibi Canyon power plant had never placed him in a position of serving his own interests at the expense of the public.

The charge had been made, Mr. Meighen said, that he had sought to hide behind former Premier George Henry in describing the deal as a purely government affair. It was a purely government affair, but as a citizen of the province he approved everything that Mr. Henry had done.

He had obtained the property at a lower cost than it would have been to the Abitibi interests, and those interests, fully furnished with the Hydro bonds, had been ready to pledge their entire assets to keep the plant and complete it.

Mr. Meighen said he was justified in going to the government as representative of his investment companies to urge a speedy decision on the Hydro bonds. He also said Mr. Meighen might have been justified in suggesting a number of other Hydro projects, but he had not done this.

The inquiry as directed by the new government, Mr. Meighen said, "is directed mainly against myself. I have sought an inquiry ever since the first breath of suspicion against me. I have not relaxed my efforts until I got it."

As to the Hydro Commission, Mr. Meighen said it was the largest undertaking in Canada. It had $400,000,000 of assets held in trust for municipalities and for the province in some cases.

If the inquiry could suggest any way of providing better direction for the enterprise, it would not be in vain.

The new government might well be able to obtain better men for the Commission than he had been. What he was to-day, he declared, was the result of a month after the vicious culmination of his long fight to oust the John F. Curry faction from control of "The Hall."

For the last five weeks Meighen had been waging a losing battle against peritonitis in Post Graduate Hospital. He was forty-three years old.

FIRE SWEEPS OVER BORDER

Flames From Canada's Burning Forests Invade Western Montana

Associated Press Spokane, Wash., Aug. 24.—Forest fires have invaded the United States from Canada.

The flames swept across the border and cut deeply into the Blackfoot National Forest of western Montana. Four Americans were reported to have been trapped and badly burned as they fought the advancing blaze on Wigwag Creek.

The biggest fire in the west was uncontrolled McLean. Butte to the Loches. River basin of central Idaho's Selway forest. With tractors 675 men strove to build lines around the 42,000-acre burn.

Although the little town of Avery, Idaho, was believed beyond danger, the blaze roared almost on three sides and down to the sea despite the efforts of 700 foresters. It covered 6,000 acres in the St. Joe National Forest.

CONFERENCE ADJOURNED

World Wheat Meeting Closes Until November Without Agreement on Quotas

Associated Press London, Aug. 24.—The International Wheat Conference adjourned yesterday until November after approving a recommendation of the government committee that new quotas for quarterly export quotas be adopted this year.

The conference failed to reach an agreement on the question of quotas for each country which are to be decided at the next meeting of the governments which have approved the plan.

It recommended export quotas be drawn from an estimated total quota of 600,000,000 bushels, from which 10 per cent of that total would be set aside as a reserve.

FORTY-EIGHT-HOUR WEEK IS ENDORSED

Canadian Press Montreal, B.C., Aug. 24.—The forty-eight-hour week of the Industrial Relations Board, and the matter of closing stores at regular hours, has been endorsed by a meeting of the merchants of Montreal City held here.

A resolution, requesting the Industrial Relations Board to reconsider their recent order requiring employers to serve a maximum of ten hours on Saturday or days immediately preceding a holiday, and grant the merchants of the province of working employees eleven hours on the day referred to, was unanimously passed.

"We recognize the purpose of the order is to increase employment, and we heartily endorse the action of the British Columbia Board of Retail Merchants' Association in endorsing the fullest co-operation of the merchants of this province in complying with a forty-eight-hour week."

SHORTAGE IN AIR WARRANTS

Canadian Press Toronto, Aug. 24.—Airplane expenditures and bookkeeping methods were discussed yesterday as the police into the Ontario government air service returned here under D. W. Lang of Toronto.

J. A. K. Smith and James A. Gordon, auditors, were on the stand and were questioned by Chief Counsel D. J. Corbett. The probe was continued until late in the afternoon.

There has been no audit of the books of the service by the government, said Mr. Smith. "We can say that we have made of the accounts a complete audit."

Witness said he had found a shortage of about $500 in the disbursements and about $500 in the receipts of the service, but he was not sure of the exact amount.

ALBERTANS QUIT FARMS

Movement of Stricken Families to More Fertile Areas Starting This Week

Canadian Press Regina, Ont., Aug. 24.—The movement of families from the dried out areas of Alberta will begin by the end of this week, Mr. George Handley, Alberta Minister of Agriculture and Forestry, stated here yesterday.

After several weeks stay in Ottawa, Mr. Handley late Wednesday concluded an agreement with the Dominion Government by which the Dominion will share in the cost of transporting these families.

The 200 families have already applied to be moved, Mr. Handley said. Each family will be taken on passenger trains and provided with two freight cars when they are needed, to move livestock and other belongings to the new home.

Should applications warrant it, special trains may be provided, but until he reached Regina, Mr. Handley had not yet looked over the situation he could not state definitely as to that possibility.

TO LEAVE LAND

The land left vacant in the south of the province by the movement of families is expected to be taken over by the provincial government, the minister explained, and will be leased to those farmers remaining for ranching. It is believed by this province the land will provide livelihood in the future for the smaller number of settlers who continue in those districts.

In sixteen of the districts affected they have been complete crop failures for five years or over, in seventeen others there have been complete crop failures for two years or over.

The movement of settlers from drought-stricken areas to the north has been going on for many years as a provision for the time being at least. Alberta has moved 2,140 families. It has moved over 1,000 families since then.

The movement this fall in which the railways are helping, is expected to be the largest in the history of the province, and will be mostly from north of the big Red Deer River and east of the C.N.R.-Grosvenor Lake line, the centre of the communities of Carleton Place and Airdrie.

TRY TO SALVE LABOR SORES

Recovery Administration to Insist on Reopening of Automobile Code

Canadian Press Washington, Aug. 24.—The United States government agreed to recover salaries over the strike-picketed labor union industry yesterday.

Soon after the administration order, the Labor Board agreed to insist on reopening the automobile manufacturers' code. The American Federation of Labor, which has been in a bitter struggle with the industry, is expected to accept the offer.

Bureau of Labor Statistics is making a detailed study of the effect of the strike on employment, wages and hours in various industries, including the textile, for future guidance.

Robert Bruen, chairman of the Cotton Textile Industrial Relations Board, has completed a statement which is believed to be an alternative offer to the textile strike.

Labor called the Aluminum Company of America's rejection of the Labor Department's peace proposal a challenge of the authority vested in the federal government by Congress.

HARVESTING NOW GENERAL

Damage By Hail in Southern Alberta and Central Saskatchewan

Canadian Press Montreal, Aug. 24.—Harvesting is now general over the prairie provinces, and threshing has commenced in the southern and central areas as well as in some northern districts, according to the weekly crop survey of the Bank of Montreal.

Heavy hail damage is reported in some of southern Alberta and over a considerable territory in central Saskatchewan. The coarse grain crop is practically a total failure in extensive areas of central and southern Saskatchewan and in south central and southwest Manitoba, and in these areas yields of barley and oats are in prospect and roots are progressing satisfactorily except in some parts of the eastern townships.

In Ontario harvesting of spring grains is nearing completion, with oats and barley giving better than average yields. In the Maritime provinces, potatoes and apples show satisfactory progress and good grain yields seem assured except in Nova Scotia where they will likely be below average.

In British Columbia most crops are in good condition, and satisfactory yields are in prospect.

Price Spreads Commission Will Continue to Function

Canadian Press Toronto, Aug. 24.—Reports to the contrary notwithstanding the Price Spreads Commission will continue to function with its course being directed by its appointed chairman, Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, said in an address here last night.

Mr. Stevens said that if after careful study of a situation one is prejudiced from expressing his or her conclusion, backed by unvarnished testimony of those vitally affected, investigations then were sought but unnecessary.

The speaker went on to deal with specific evils uncovered by the price spreads and mass buying committee in regard to clothing, furniture and food stuffs, stating that with respect to such commodities the slogan "collective bargaining" as applied to labor, was totally eclipsed by unethical practices applied under present industrial and commercial conditions.

He did not give the names of firms involved in the instances quoted. Unethical practices, he stated, were the cause of destructive competition, would bring nothing but ruin to legitimate trade, and the minister said he would not be deterred by anyone.

Mr. Stevens, visiting his own constituency of East Kootenay, arrived here last night and spoke at a banquet in his honor.

B.C. FOREST FIRES COSTLY

Timber Damage to Date From 966 Fires Placed at $54,519

Canadian Press Vancouver, Aug. 24.—Forest fires in British Columbia this season have been more costly than for three seasons past. The forestry department reported today. Timber damage to date is estimated at $54,519 from 966 fires compared with $15,906 from 688 fires in 1933 and $8,176 from 265 in 1932.

Conditions in the interior are "extremely hazardous," the report stated, the principal hazard being lightning fires in other parts of the province are mostly caused by human agency, it was indicated.

Reports show that fires in the Kamloops district numbered 271 this season, Nelson district, 403; Port George, forty-six; Prince Rupert, seventy, and Vancouver, 176.

CENSORSHIP IN U.S. PLANNED

Senator Schall Says Bill to Come Before Next Session of Congress

Associated Press Washington, Aug. 24.—Senator Thomas Schall, Missouri, reported last night that he was formulating a proposal for a government "press censorship" similar to those operating in Russia, France and Italy.

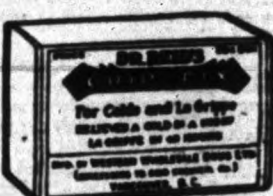

Schall said the recommendation would be given to the Federal Communications Commission. It would, he said, suppress existing privately-operating press services.

"It will be operated on the taxpayer's money," he said, "and will have exclusive use of all government news and be in a position to give its service only to those newspapers loyal to the Roosevelt administration."

He conducted it also with the activities of a group of representatives of foreign governments and business interests, a group which he said numbered 27,000. The War Department, he said, has a list of the names of these groups.

"It is an exact copy of a Congress composed of true Americans," he said.

"they will demand from the War Department the names of these 27,000 foreign spies and their proper prosecution."

TRAINING YOUNG FARMERS

FOR SEVERAL YEARS TRAINING OF young Canadians in the rural sciences has been the purpose of the Boys' and Girls' Farm Clubs in Canada. These bodies operate under the auspices of the Canadian Council on Boys' and Girls' Club Work, the members of which include the Dominion Department of Agriculture, the provincial Departments of Agriculture, the two transcontinental railway companies, and certain other commercial concerns which are directly interested in the welfare of all phases of agriculture.

The boys' and girls' farm club movement had its inception twenty-one years ago and during that time it has attained a prominent position in the general plan of agricultural extension. There were at the end of 1932 nearly 1,300 clubs with a membership of approximately 21,500, while there are twenty-one varieties of project to which these clubs and their members devote their attention and study. Reports for 1933, although not complete, indicate a fairly large increase in the total membership; this, in view of present conditions, would seem clearly to demonstrate the favorable reception accorded to this form of extension work.

These clubs, it will be apparent, furnish a practical form of agricultural education in that the club work is a great extension school of agriculture in which the subjects for study are the club projects and the pupils are the enrolled club members. In other words, it is the application of the sound principle of "learn to do by doing." For example, the club member with his calf, pair of pigs, chickens, seed grain plot, or whatever the project calls for, develops an honest pride in ownership, in achievement, a keen and healthy interest in the farm and in the community generally. The required keeping of accounts and records, the possibility of acting as an officer of the club or as chairman at meetings, the opportunity to prepare and present papers or demonstrations, the giving of oral reasons in judging competitions and the working together with other young people of the community all constitute a broad and valuable training for future citizenship.

In the light of experience in the last year or so, the Council obviously is on sound ground in contending that it has a useful function to perform in the furtherance of a constructive national boys' and girls' club policy; and the careful thought now being given to its direction by agricultural leaders bespeaks a successful future for this important part of extension work in agriculture. There are a few of these clubs in British Columbia, including several in the Greater Victoria area, some of whose young members have distinguished themselves in stock breeding.

FINE CITIZEN PASSES

NOT ONLY EDUCATION WITH WHICH he had been connected for more than thirty-five years, but many other causes devoted to the betterment of Victoria's citizenship have suffered a severe loss in the death of J. M. Campbell. From the time of his arrival here until his retirement four years ago he had been continuously a member of the city's teaching staff, with the exception of a short period as a teacher in the old Cadboro Bay School. For over two decades he was principal of the North Ward School, which under his direction reached a high degree of proficiency.

Notwithstanding the exacting nature of his work Mr. Campbell found time to interest himself actively in many important public movements. He was prominently identified with the Metropolitan Methodist Church both before and after it became part of the United Church; he was often a member of the executive of the Canadian Club, and a consistent supporter of the League of Nations Society, not to speak of other worthy organizations. He was highly esteemed for his high ideals and fidelity to principle, while his broad knowledge of life and its problems, his sound judgment and kindly tolerance, made him a valued counsellor whose advice was gratefully accepted in all quarters.

In recent years Mr. Campbell was a member of the Board of School Trustees, which benefited immeasurably from his practical knowledge of school administration and the teaching profession. He was a fine example of Canadian citizenship at its best, and as such will be long remembered by a host of friends throughout the community who will share with his family their sense of the poignant loss they have sustained in his passing.

NOT PERMITTED

RECENTLY IN THE TOWN OF STRATFORD, Ontario, a committee of citizens banded themselves together and forcibly expelled from the community a member of the Workers' Unity League.

On the surface, the object of this League is the improvement of the lot of the working people; but its zeal in behalf of its fellows often has run away with the better judgment of its members, many of whom have decidedly "red" tendencies and who at times indulge in the distribution of propaganda calculated to disturb law and order. But the law of the Dominion provides a punishment for those who overstep the bounds. The law of the Dominion gives no authority to any body of citizens, whether in Stratford or in any other Canadian city, to deal summarily with such trouble-makers. This is the function of the courts exclusively.

Canada is not a country likely to condone methods of conduct diametrically opposed to normal liberty of thought and action. Our system of democratic government does not sanction incidents like that reported from Stratford.

DOING GOOD WORK

VANCOUVER'S SYSTEM FOR THE DETECTION and treatment of tuberculosis has been so satisfactory in the last eighteen months that important clinics throughout North America are making a study of it.

During 1933 there were 1,367 known cases in Vancouver and 200 known deaths from this disease. Last year new cases totaled 778, or two every day. Although Orientals comprise only seven per cent of Vancouver's population, they constitute 11.7 per cent of its tuberculous patients. They occupy 21.7 per cent of all bed accommodations, of which, of course, as is the case all over Canada, there is a great shortage.

There are many cases of tuberculosis in British Columbia which are not "known." This is to say they are not reported, and will not be reported in many instances until the disease has progressed to a dangerous extent. It is failure to report, a reluctance on the part of many people who are suspicious of their condition to undergo a thorough examination, which adds to the difficulties of fighting the disease. Tuberculosis can be cured if proper treatment is given in time; and if treatment is given in time, it means also that the danger of infecting others can be reduced to the minimum.

LESS ON RELIEF

ACCORDING TO THE MONTREAL GAZETTE, the number of people in Canada receiving direct relief at the end of July showed a considerable decline. It is given as 990,098, divided between the nine provinces as follows:

Ontario, 300,000; Quebec, 288,000; Saskatchewan, 180,000; British Columbia, 98,100; Manitoba, 88,800; Alberta, 47,200; Nova Scotia, 23,100; New Brunswick, 9,100; Prince Edward Island, 200.

In March last year the number of persons on direct relief in this province was 109,949, so that the reduction as shown at the end of July is a substantial one. Industrial recovery as represented in greater lumbering and mining activity is obviously responsible for such improvement as is apparent in British Columbia.

Unemployment throughout the Dominion, of course, still remains Canada's gravest problem. It will become less grave only as the trade of the country increases. Signs of this already are apparent. The outlook, therefore, is much better than it was a year ago.

OUR TRADE AND THE FACTS

THE WINNIPEG FREE PRESS IS NATURALLY much concerned over the very small quota permitted by Denmark to Canadian flour. Canadian flour exports have fallen eighty per cent in the last five years and will now become negligible, as this country is only permitted three per cent of Denmark's imports.

Our contemporary fully appreciates that this loss of trade is due to the necessity of Denmark's reserving its market for its best customer, which is Great Britain, since Danish products have no market in Canada. Canada's problem is similar to that of all countries which are large exporters of foodstuffs.

For quality and value, Canadian flour is unsurpassed, but its sale in Europe is strictly conditioned by our balance of trade with each country—with the exception at present of Great Britain. Even the British market may be more restricted when the present agreements end.

TRYING TO BEAT THE TRAIN

ANOTHER OF THOSE CASES OF A motorist trying to beat the railway train at a private level crossing is reported from the northern Ontario resort town of Baywood. The cost of this "taking a chance" was five killed and one seriously injured.

It is supposed the party were returning from a dance. The report says the car stopped about twenty-five feet from the crossing and then proceeded, apparently in the belief that the driver could beat the oncoming train; but the train caught the car and demolished it, wreckage being carried for 600 feet along the right-of-way.

In spite of all the information which has been disseminated in the hope of discouraging this practice of trying to beat the train, we get from time to time reports of needless tragedies such as that which occurred near Bigwood. Five lives were snuffed out and one person was seriously injured, all because the driver of the automobile could not possess his soul in patience for a few more minutes.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

A PERMANENT JOB
The Montreal Gazette

During the excavation of part of Hero's Golden House in Rome, a complete system of drainage was discovered, which Prof. Tureau, who is in charge, put into working order by merely clearing the pipes of earth and rubbish. Perhaps the Roman plumbers in ancient days were so well equipped and did their work so completely that they did not have to go back for their tools. The job in Hero's house was permanent.

HORRORS IN SPAIN
Steele in Christian Science Monitor

Spain proves its resourcefulness when a band of robbers holds up a bank in the American bank bandit style. Eight outlaws bristling with guns in a fast automobile swept down on a bank at San Sebastian and rob it of 60,000 pesetas, then sped to the Guipuzcoan bank and gathered in 15,000 pesetas more. As they whizzed away in triumph authorities nearby coddling towns. The people of Pampuna, determined not to go American. In this fashion, pile lumber and stones on the bridge, household furniture across the highway. The car is wrecked, its robbers are in jail—when the people turn police bandits go out of business.

A THOUGHT

But he turned the countess of the old man, which they had given him, and counted with the young man that were given up with him, and which stood before him. — Shakespeare

Loose Ends

Concerning the dull subject of taxes and how to pay them—and where they go—together with an object lesson—a shocking discovery—and a humble apology.

By H. B. W.

TAXATION

IT HAPPENED THAT I was out to-day among a group of influential British Columbia politicians, like a babe out on an unappetizing feast. You would be surprised how seriously politicians take their business. You never find them talking anything but politics, never relaxing, always pondering over the problems of the unappetizing public. When they said about the federal and provincial governments I will not record, since it was spoken in strict confidence, but they were generally accepted by the group as deserving consideration.

"Honestly speaking," said one of the chieftains of them, "our industries in British Columbia produced $200,000,000 last year. Of this we took about $100,000,000 in taxes. If we could cut down this $100,000,000 by a half, say, then we make all the difference. The government would then be able to do what it should do."

Four foolish politicians! Four deluded taxpayers who believe that! Four citizens of British Columbia who imagine that we can consume our way out of this world depression. The government would then be able to do what it should do. The government would then be able to do what it should do.

NO LOSS

BUT JUST examine the politician's proposition noted above for a moment—his notion that taxation is a dead loss to society. Actually, so long as government gets their money in the right place and spend it wisely, it is nothing of the sort. It is a positive gain. Every dollar of the $100,000,000 which our provincial and municipal governments collect and spend on actual services and on the maintenance of the public works, which are the backbone of our civilization, keeps people at work. The only money which doesn't do that is the money sent outside the province to pay interest on bonds held elsewhere. That, indeed, is a total loss to us. Our trouble is not that our government is spending too much, but that they are getting it in the wrong place and spending it in the wrong place. They are collecting too much from certain classes in the community and spending too much on debt owed outside. If it weren't for the loss of debt held outside, the total amount of the money wouldn't matter much, would only serve to circulate money more rapidly among those who needed it.

The great thing to remember is that money spent on actual goods and services is a gain. Our community system is suffering on all sides largely because so much money is spent otherwise. It is spent to pay interest. Even that wouldn't matter so much if the interest were spent by those who get it on goods and services. But it isn't. It is loaned out to create more debt or interest or it is spent to create more productive machinery which adds to the surplus of undistributable goods.

Under the same system which my government will shortly introduce, you will still pay taxes, but you will get them back several times over. If we were to save half of the $100,000,000 which so bothers my friend the politician, it would be the very half which circulates here—not the half which goes outside to pay interest. And if we were to loan out to create more debt or interest or it is spent to create more productive machinery which adds to the surplus of undistributable goods.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALAN MCKENZIE

IN A LIBRARY BOOK
O little book, how beautiful
In more than mortal show,
When I read thy words I find
The light, the love.

Through dreary hours of weary night,
In lonely hours of lonely day,
Thy words have been my guide,
In all I do and say.

And to the lonely, friendless heart
Thy words have been a comfort,
Thy words have been a guide,
Thy words have been a light.

To remind me, unrepentant, naïve,
Of the things I have done,
Thy words have been a guide,
Thy words have been a light.

O little book, how beautiful
In more than mortal show,
When I read thy words I find
The light, the love.

Thy words have been my guide,

She was entering upon the stormy French political scene as well as into matrimony, was Miss Bettina Jones, when this picture was taken as the society mannequin became the bride of Gaston Bergery, political left-wing leader, in Mantes, France.

By MORRIS GILBERT

Paris, Aug. 24.—Bella, a tall, blonde, handsome girl—Betty Jones—is making her mark in the inner circle of French left-wing politics in connection with her engagement and marriage to Gaston Bergery, leader of the "Common Front" and better known as "Gaston Bergery".

Betty is slender and feminine. She looks at home in a couturiere's shop in the rue de la Paix, not in the stormy-tempered political arena. But she fits in both places—as is proved by the fact that for years she has been a "vendueuse mondaine" for Schiaparelli—one of those privileged girls who have the capacity to wear model clothes beautifully and thus attract their friends and acquaintances to the place where they are so artfully constructed. Showing the latest frocks and doudous, fighting the battles of velvet vs. silk, of skirt-length, hip-line, and fulness-at-the-back ought to have been enough activity for this young lady, product of an excellent New York finishing school, and Junior League, who settled in Paris a few years ago and for a time lived the life of society exclusively.

NAZI RULES ON MARRIAGE

Government's Ten Commandments For Guidance to Rational Wedlock

Associated Press
Berlin, Aug. 24.—The Nazi Government has decided to put marriage on a "rational basis."

Officials issued to-day a list of ten commandments for the guidance of German youth when approaching the complex business of marriage.

"Remember always that art German," says commandment one.

Number two urges "that shall not, if especially fit, remain unmarried. He who without valid reason does so, breaks the chain of the generation."

"Hold thy body clear," said the third, which concludes with the injunction: "Remember you yourself are a German citizen."

Number four warns against "alien influences" and observes "happiness built on life's own collapse. You yourself must live up to whatever you expect of your mate."

"As a German choose a mate of equal or Nordic blood," is the advice of number five.

The sixth commandment warns "never marry the one good person in a bad family," as the theory hereditary deficiency may creep on in the next generation.

"Good health is a prerequisite for eternal beauty," says number seven.

Number eight: "Marry only for love—a short infatuation of the senses is no real love—seek a mate, not a playmate, for matrimony."

The ninth emphasizes desirability of permanent marriage and the tenth says "the meaning of marriage lies in a healthy progeny."

Benefit Concert Is Enjoyable

A very enjoyable evening benefit concert was held at the Kindergarten Hall, Thursday evening to raise funds for Our Lady of Lourdes Church. The artists taking part in the entertainment were: Jack Wilson as master of ceremonies, Frank McDonald, stage effects; Mr. Irvine Shanks, piano solo; Ethel Quinn, the Famous Clough Dancing Academy in a tap and tap dance; John Christian singing "Friend or Foe"; Frank Mitchell of the Victoria City Sinfonia in a novelty act; Billy Fletcher singing "The Tumble Down Shack in Alabama"; Wilbert Loderum with his accordion; Adele Bennett in appropriate costume sang two delightful songs from "Othello" and last but not least, Ray Hunt presented a stonny tap dance act.

A vote of thanks was extended to all the artists who contributed their time and talents to making the evening's entertainment a great success and especially to Miss Helen Peller for playing the piano accompaniment and to Miss Florence Clough for her co-operation.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER CLARKE

The advice on how to care for and feed a baby is always easy to read. The good results expected take into account everything except the disposition of the baby and the variability of the mother's response to rules have ever been devised for taking care of these two unpredictable elements. The baby may be offered exactly the right number of meals, the frequent drinks of cool water, the opportunity for regular naps and he will be as well as he can be. The mother's regulation? These are the complications which offer the problem.

MYRTLE MEYER CLARKE, 700

Quite as vital as this is the mother's propensity for slipping a little herself. Night before her she has written down all the things she is supposed to do for the baby. He is to have his meals exactly on the hour, and they are to be composed of this, that, and the other thing, all according to the rules and regulations mapped out for small babies. Then the next morning itself—don't she carry them out?

There is hardly a modern mother, who goes regularly to a pediatrician for advice, or consults some other authority for information on feeding, who cannot rest off by heart the regulations for her baby's diet down to the last drop of cod liver oil. She knows exactly how the baby is to be fed—and almost always—according to her—she gets just the type of male offspring.

RESULTS DO NOT LIE
This would be more believable were the results better, but only too often, if planned down to facts, the mother cannot but sometimes the baby gets out of control. The morning, evening, and night feedings, the vegetables and milk in the afternoon, cereal and milk at night—and of course cod liver oil after every meal. The truth is he does not get all of these things every day. Some days the baby will not take his cereal, sometimes the mother will not cook the vegetables and liver oil run out and she did not get to buy another bottle for a week. These occasional lapses in the program for which she has added advice. Everything cannot be right unless advice is carried out conscientiously each day. Systems need all the food chains, every day. The mother is expected to understand how good the mother's intentions are. It is only her behavior that counts.

What about off days the she sits?

TORCH SINGER IS ACQUITTED

Actors' Board Clears Helen Morgan of Intoxication Charge By Producer

Associated Press
Los Angeles, Aug. 24.—Helen Morgan, the attractive brunette torch singer, was acquitted of charges of intoxication early to-day by a board of arbitration of the Actors' Equity Association.

The bottle between the actress and Myron C. Fagan, producer, ended in a draw.

The board decided that Miss Morgan had not been intoxicated during the two opening performances of the play "Memory" at the Broadway Theatre here last May and consequently was not responsible for the flop of the play.

On the other hand the board decided if the actress did not collect her salary it was because her husband, Maurice Marché Jr., did not give it to her. It also decided Fagan, the author and producer of the show, did not owe Miss Morgan for costumes which she purchased for the performance out of her own funds.

The decision was reached after a hearing that lasted from yesterday morning until the early hours of to-day.

Myra Levin, actress, called as a witness, said in regard to the charges Miss Morgan was intoxicated, she only heard the torch singer make suggestions as to the manner in which certain parts of the play should be played.

What One Girl Wore

Trim and tailored in this charming coat of blue-grey tweed. Binding of navy crepe is used to trim the collar, cuffs and pocket. There is a neat collar of navy crepe to match.

The summer coat problem is one that must be solved individually and with an eye to the budget. If you find the job can include more than one wrap in your wardrobe, it is always well to invest in a white coat. There is nothing more effective with any summer costume—no matter what type or what color—than a light wrap, preferably white.

However, the girl who must limit herself to one coat will do well to get something more practical. There are lovely toned coats that will serve for summer purposes in town or for country wear, and that will be useful for early fall wear. If the need of a white coat is felt to be urgent, there are many inexpensive and effective models this season of linen or pique that are smart and useful and will cause only the slightest dent in the pocketbook.

As a matter of fact, some of the loveliest afternoon ensembles of the summer come with three-quarter coats, of white linen and pique. It is wise to buy one of these—the white coat may be switched around and worn with any other frock to form another ensemble.

To-day's sketch shows a trend coat in a soft shade of blue-grey that is practical for wear now, and will be of use during those between-season days when it is too late for summer clothes and too early for a heavier wrap.

The wide collar, the narrow cuffs and the shape of the small pockets are bound with navy crepe to match the smart navy crepe skirt worn at the waist. The coat buttons high and is fastened with The buttons, by the way, are covered with the trend fabric. Worn with white accessories, this model is especially effective for many occasions, and it will be found equally smart with dark shoes, gloves and a dark hat.

Toronto, Aug. 24.—Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn is too busy to attend the Canadian National Exhibition. Writing to the president of the Canadian National Exhibition, Col. F. H. Deacon, the premier stated he would be unable to be present at any functions.

"I wrote to Col. Deacon and explained that it was a physical impossibility for me to accept the numerous invitations I have received," said the premier. "I have even refused to attend the opening of the Ottawa fair. The only invitation I have accepted is the East Eight fair in my own riding. I regret having to do this but I am keeping in mind the fact that this government was elected to serve the interests of the people, and those interests come before social obligations."

GIRL PSYCHIC STIRS LONDON

Kansas Farmer's Daughter Predicted Sports Winners and Trunk Murders

Associated Press
New York, Aug. 24.—Word came from London to-day that a Kansas farmer's daughter—roy-cheeked, dimpled Gene Dennis—is figuratively knocking the British "top" for a loop.

Gene has been in London since early spring and is known all over England as the American girl psychic. She has appeared at three London theatres, has given "readings" at the afternoon teas of a big London hotel, has been interviewed on coming events by most of the large newspapers of England, and in addition has written a weekly article for The London Sunday Dispatch at a pay rate of £500 an article.

An Associated Press dispatch from London to-day attributed her present fame to her sensational prediction that Winston Laid would win the Derby—which he did.

She predicted Len Harvey would lose his British heavyweight title to Jack Peterson and suffer an eye injury in the fight. His forecast the 2 to 1 victory of Manchester over Portsmouth in the football final and a red-haired boy would kick the winning goal.

Gene's big triumph came when the gruesome Brighton trunk murders were disclosed.

When the first body was found she wrote in her weekly column: "This is connected in some way with all other murder, which, but for this might never have been discovered."

Three weeks later the second trunk murder was revealed by officers searching Brighton premises in connection with the first case.

HAIR IN GREATEST BEAUTY ASSET

If you have been neglecting your hair lately, you had better get busy right now and give it some reconstruction. If you don't, you don't you will be more than sorry the first morning dress.

Say what you will, beautiful hair is a girl's greatest asset, particularly when she's dressed in evening clothes. A faded, lustreless coiffure may not have mattered so much on vacation, but it certainly will when you get back in town. So, if you are one who took a holiday from brushing and hair grooming as well as from work, start to-day to get your hair back into good condition.

First of all, promise yourself to use a hairbrush at least three times a week. And to have hot oil shampoo every week for at least two months. If you wash your own hair, simply massage warm olive oil into the hair as well as the scalp. Leave it on all night and shampoo next morning.

Remember that a pomade will help to alleviate excessive dryness. Put a bit of it on the end of your hair whenever you begin combing. It, in spite of hot oil treatments and careful brushing, the dryness persists, get a special tonic for dry hair and use it according to directions.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

KNOW YOUR LIMA BEANS

By MARY E. BAKER

Lima beans, in their pods or out, are the vegetable king of the month. A hearty food that the green beans of summer, they add calories to the diet, the number depending upon how they are served. One-fourth cup—four level tablespoons—served lightly seasoned with butter, furnishes 100 calories of protein, fat and carbohydrates. One whole cup, just four times as much, of string or green beans furnishes the same nourishment. The vitamin content of green beans is higher than that of peas.

You will probably find several varieties of lima beans on the market—tiny green ones, large green ones, long flat beans and broad beans. They are all good if gathered before the milk becomes firm inside the tender shell-like covering. As the beans ripen and the covering grows hard and difficult to digest and the smooth creamy centre becomes dry and unpalatable. No matter how long the beans are cooked, these conditions cannot be altered nor the vegetable improved.

PURSE TONIC BEANS

The best way to serve lima beans that have their skins on is to rub them through a sieve after cooking and use them in a puree or soufflé. This removes the tough covering, but, of course, does not restore the delicate flavor of the tender vegetable.

The most delicious way to serve lima beans is in pure cream. When cream is used, no butter is needed in the seasoning, but as extravagant as it sounds. One-half cup cream is seasoned with salt and pepper and added to two cups of cooked lima beans. Heat to the boiling point, but do not boil. The cream coats the beans lightly and makes them delightfully moist and smooth.

USE LITTLE WATER

Always cook lima beans in as little water as possible and cook uncovered. Let the water cook away or use it in a sauce with butter and a very little flour. Boil 1 teaspoon flour into 2 tablespoons butter to thicken each half cup liquid.

Remember, too, that lima beans should be salted when they are half cooked. There's danger of toughening the covering if the salt is added when they are put on to cook. Allow thirty to forty minutes cooking time and occasionally shake the pan. Their fairness often causes them to stick to the bottom of the pan, and even when they are stirred, they are apt to stick. Shaking the pan prevents sticking and does not crush, as stirring would do.

TO-MORROW'S MENU

Breakfast—Fresh plums, cereal, cream, toast, strawberry milk, milk, coffee.
Luncheon—Open tomato and bacon sandwiches, minced apples with raisins, fruit salad, tea.
Dinner—Veal chops with sauce, candied sweet potatoes, lima beans in cream, jellied carrot salad, peach cobbler, milk, coffee.

PREMIER WEDS FIRST WIFE

Gen. Julius Goombos of Hungary Reunited to His Children's Mother

Associated Press
Budapest, Hungary, Aug. 24.—Aristocratic Hungary was stirred to romantic depths to-day by the strange, marriage yesterday of Gen. Julius Goombos, the forty-eight-year-old Premier.

He remarried his first wife and the mother of his three children, after his second wife died.

Everyone thought the country's dictator was so irretrievably gripped over the death of his second wife, who was strikingly beautiful and young, that he would not go to the altar again, but her death eventually convinced the Premier's love for his first mate, who to-day is thirty-two.

"When I took office as Premier," said Gen. Goombos, "I said my task was to build up my country for the Hungarian nation. I find to-day that not only nations, but individuals need new souls."

"That is why I decided to seek again the heart-love and comforting presence of my first wife and our three children. It is a case of rebound and reunited love."

INDIGNANT WIFE PUNCHED RIVAL

Los Angeles, Aug. 24.—Somewhat in the role of an expert, as well as a witness, S. P. Tinsman, flight instructor, described in court yesterday how Mrs. G. Benton Wilson, wife of a prominent yachtman, slapped Mrs. Cavalier, stage and movie actress, on a downtown street last June.

"She gave her a good left hook right to the nose," Tinsman testified in the trial of Mrs. Cavalier's $10,000 damage suit against Mrs. Wilson, who, in her answer, admits the slap.

The actress charged Mrs. Wilson slapped her under the mistaken impression that she, Mrs. Cavalier, was about to keep a rendezvous with Wilson.

SUMAS POLL
AUTHORIZEDMunicipality Had No Council to Call Election So Government
Acts

To clear up a muddle of unique character in the affairs of Sumas municipality, the provincial government yesterday authorized Municipal Clerk R. B. MacPhail to hold an election to fill vacant seats on the municipal council.

This action became necessary because Sumas did not have a council quorum which could itself declare a poll.

The situation developed about a month ago when the reeve, Michael Murphy, resigned and three councillors were disqualified, leaving only one councillor in office.

When Reeve Murphy questioned the propriety of the council's action, the council resigned and a by-election was held to fill the seat.

Then a group of interested ratepayers got legal advice and questioned the qualifications of the mayor and the three remaining councillors over the possession of some land from the agricultural association. Since the councillors were members of both bodies, the association was legal in its action.

The municipal clerk upheld the contention. The reeve resigned and so did the others, leaving the one newly-elected councillor in office.

He did not constitute a quorum for the council and therefore could not call an election, so the appeal was made to the provincial government for help.

URGE ACTION

For Municipalities' Convention

Resolutions drawing attention to previous action made towards the establishment of state health and unemployment insurance, a public utilities commission, and action as suggested in the Harper report, will be submitted by Saanich to the Union of British Columbia Municipalities convention for forwarding to the provincial government.

At a meeting yesterday evening the council endorsed the following resolutions submitted by Reeve Crouch:

"That we urge upon the Dominion and provincial governments the absolute necessity of definite action being taken to provide state health and unemployment insurance."

"That this union regrets that no action has been taken by the provincial government to ease the financial burden on municipalities and requests the provincial government to forthwith take active steps along the lines suggested in the Harper report and the various briefs submitted by the Union of British Columbia Municipalities."

"That this council requests the union to refer to its previous stand upon the question of the establishment of a Public Utilities Commission."

"That this union once again wishes to place itself on record as it has done for the last three or four years, in favor of properly handling unemployment relief by divorcing it from party politics and strongly urges that all relief be administered by an independent commission."

into circulation to create work and wages? Some few might. But most of them would simply buy more interest-paying debt in one form or another.

Under the same system which my government will shortly introduce, whenever the public has the right to elect us, you will still pay taxes, but you will get them back several times over.

TRUTH
THERE COMES a time in every life, even in the scandalous life of a column like this, when the truth must be told. Fortunately for most of us, it doesn't come often.

Well, I have a confession to make and an apology to offer. The truth is that I haven't really been with you, poor reader, for a week and may not be for another week, though you will hardly suspect it. The truth is that the accumulated matter that I have been able to save up, with great care and effort for a long time, so that when I would say you would not utterly lack daily information on the more important problems of the time.

Yes, what you have been reading, and will still read, has been saved up in advance like a miser's store of gold—and spent on you with a reckless lavishness which you will never appreciate.

I wish you could see how hard it is to get even a single column written and saved up ahead, let alone a dozen. I wish you could see how I would try every day to have at least a paragraph over when I went to town; how I would hide the little surplus away in a special envelope out of my own sight lest I be tempted in a moment of weakness to plunder my own treasure chest.

Sometimes, indeed, I would sink even to that. Sometimes when I was feeling low of a morning I would thrust into the envelope and rush off.

with a full column, feeling like a kidnapper; and that would mean the savings of at least three days gone. Like a bankrupt, I would have to start life all over again, saving a paragraph here and there, squandering a few sentences out of each day's supply, building up a little nest egg against the time when I should be away.

SLIM RATIONS
THAT, POOR READER, is why your intellectual rations have been so skimpy lately. That is why, instead of those complete ideas in a day, you have been lucky to get two. But even then you probably got several more than you could absorb. And I dare say civilization endured somehow, even on this lean diet.

Anyway, by the time you read this the famine will be almost over. I shall be back full of new ideas full of the great out-door, full of trust from under the great falls. On the whole, considering the labor involved and the appreciation I am likely to get for it, I think I've done rather handsomely by it. I doubt, indeed, that you would have known without this confession that these inferior thoughts in the last few days, these mouldy hearings that have lain in an envelope until almost inedible, were any different from the usual fare. A doubtful compliment, that.

THE OAK BAY COUNCIL will not entertain proposals for subdivision of Uplands lots unless action is taken towards a general redividing plan through the Uplands Company, it was decided yesterday.

An application received from William Hicks Gardiner for subdivision of his lot was turned down in consistency with the council's policy.

LUMBER OUTPUT DOWN IN WEEK

Oregon and Washington
Production Figures Show Drop of 1,500,000 Feet

Associated Press
Seattle, Aug. 24.—A production of 94,499,213 feet of lumber was reported by 553 down and operating mills in Oregon and Washington for the week ending August 18, the West Coast Lumbermen's Association said today. This was about 1,500,000 feet under the previous week.
Shipments of 550 mills were 19.9 per cent over production while current sales were 12.8 per cent under production. Orders booked were 10.3 per cent under the previous week or 9,500,000 feet. The new business reported was 39,043,559 feet against a production of 34,256,303 feet and shipments of 109,381,945 feet.
The unfilled order file at the mills stood at 453,741,978 feet, approximately 24,000,000 feet under the week before. Aggregate inventories of 190 mills are 21 per cent more than at this time last year.
The average production of the sawmills in 1934 has been 76,016,797 feet a week. During the same period in 1933 it was 74,588,683 feet.

New X-Ray Weighs Only Seven Pounds

—By WILLIAMS
An X-ray apparatus weighing only seven pounds has been produced and was displayed recently at the Congress of the British Institute of Radiology.
Dr. A. Bowers of Rindthoven has invented this instrument, which can take X-ray photographs in two seconds.
Dr. Bowers paid a high tribute, however, in a lecture at the Congress to the work done immediately after the war had been discovered by Röntgen. The research workers of that date, though unable to put their plans into action, had sketched out lines of development which had been followed ever since.
Progress had been only relative.

BING CROSBY AT DOMINION

Has Leading Role Opposite Miriam Hopkins in "She Loves Me Not"

"The Loves Me Not," starring Bing Crosby and Miriam Hopkins, opened at the Dominion Theatre to-day. The audience, anxious to see what might have happened at Princeton, but never did, began with a shooting in a Philadelphia night club, viewed by a little dancer, who flows to escape being held as a material witness. She gets as far as Princeton, penniless and hungry, where she prevails upon "the generosity and good nature of a group of college boys who disguise her as a student and hide her in their dormitory."
The father of one of the students hits upon the ingenious plan of using her predicament as part of a wild-eyed publicity scheme to save one of his films, which promises to be a success. He dispatches his daughter, present-agent to the university campus, where he arrives together with a gunman from Philadelphia, who has come to silence Curry, and the dean who has just got wind of the affair. As the two-headed, flamboyant, madcap little dancer who causes all the trouble, Miss Hopkins renders one of the grandest performances of her career, while Crosby and Kitty Carlisle are equally delightful in both their stinging and setting roles.

"Jane Eyre" to Show at Capitol

An authentic version of a grand old English classic will open on the screen of the Capitol Theatre Saturday when "Jane Eyre," featuring Virginia Bruce and Colin Clive, will be presented.
The Monogram film version of Charlotte Brontë's famous novel prevails as the flavor of the original, while at the same time it imparts the modern tempo that has accounted for the phenomenal success of its recent predecessors in the cinema field. Virginia Bruce in the title role, probably gives the finest performance of her successful career. She is a typical "Jane Eyre," and more recent successes, also gives a remarkably faithful picture of Mr. Rochester, the English gentleman who brings the first breath of romance into the life of the orphaned Jane.
PLAYHOUSE THEATRE
The longest location trip of the year, the expedition of Fox Film players, director, author and others, into the Malaysian jungle, to film the production, "Devil Tiger," in its entirety, took seven full months. The picture is now at the Playhouse Theatre.
EMPIRE THEATRE
Kathleen Burke, Ellen Richmond and Harry Woods, all of Hollywood, head the cast, with the direction in the hands of Clyde E. Scharf, who directed "Spring, Summer, Autumn, Winter." "Devil Tiger," the picture of the unit, in order to iron out any script difficulties.
COLUMBIA THEATRE
The Northernmost idea of the Southernmost as a man whose language is punctuated by innumerable "you alls" was avoided by Charles Farrell in his portrayal of a Tennessee mountain man in Paramount's "Girl Without a Room" now showing at the Columbia Theatre.
He took home in true Southern accent from "Cracker" Henderson, Jack Oakley's "Man Friday," who hails from deep down in Georgia.
EMPIRE THEATRE
The film version of "The Ghost Camera," made at Twickenham, with Henry Kendall and Ida Lupino in the principal roles, is at the Empire Theatre to-day.
Henry Kendall plays the part of a rather pedantic chemist, who, after returning from a holiday and reporting the fact that nothing exciting happens to him, discovers that the film in a camera he finds in the back of his car hold the clue to a murder.

SOME ODORS HARD, SOME EASY TO REMEMBER

By DR. MORRIS FISHER
One well-established fact in connection with the link between odors and memory is that certain odors are remembered much more easily than others. Most people can remember the odors of the country as compared to those of the city. And most of us can remember the smell of must, carbolic acid and vinegar.
It is, however, rather difficult to recall the easily recognized aroma of amfetol or garlic.
It is rather well established that most people dislike the odors associated with the bodies of other persons, but are not sensitive to their own smell. It is believed that the practice among certain savage tribes of rubbing noses at the time of greeting, rather than shaking hands or hugging, is due to the early tendency of recognition through the sense of smell.
Austrian now believes that the sense of smell is produced by the physical and chemical action of particles of material or gases which stimulate the sensitive nerve endings in the nose.
Prof. Lefsch, the psychologist, has pointed out that the sense of smell in the human being is modified by previous experience and also by vision, taste, touch and hearing. For this reason, a certain odor may be pleasant at one time and nauseating at another.
It is perhaps for this reason that, when we can remember easily what we eat, but have difficulty in many cases in remembering odors. For instance, it is easy to remember what a certain species of rose looks like, but very few persons can remember what it smells like.
Prof. Lefsch points out that very many curious observations have been

PRESERVING FRUIT PLENTIFUL IN CITY
 The preserving season is again in full swing here. A railroad of thousands of a type specially suited to handling, which was received yesterday morning by local wholesalers, is expected almost completely cleared up already. A similar shipment is due to reach the city on Monday.

Italian prunes, also a popular preserving fruit, are plentiful on the market at the present time. Prices are low, and the quality this year is stated to be excellent.

Damson plums, always a favorite fruit for jam making, are here at present, but this season are exceptionally scarce, and in consequence prices are relatively high.

NO ACTION TO FILL VACANCY

School Officials, Shocked By Trustee's Death, Expected to Follow Usual Course

Shocked by the passing of Trustee J. M. Campbell, officials of the Victoria School Board had taken no action today to serve a vacancy to serve the remaining days of his term.

It was expected a decision would be taken at an early date.

While nothing official was forthcoming, it was believed the usual course would be followed.

Section 44 of the School Act, providing election to fill a vacancy in the Board of School Trustees, states that "in the case of a vacancy, the remaining trustees shall forthwith notify the council of the municipality of the vacancy, and the council shall take steps to hold an election of a trustee to fill the vacancy, and in case the council fails to hold the election, the council shall be deemed to have elected the trustee to fill the vacancy, and the trustee so elected or appointed shall hold office only for the residue of the term for which his predecessor was elected."

RACKET FIGHT IS EFFECTIVE

Investigation Reveals Extent of Professional Promoters' Operations

Members of charity and donation schemes in Victoria which have been refused endorsement by the Chamber of Commerce's special committee, have in some instances proved argumentative and in most instances have taken the rejection with bad grace. The committee, however, is determined to protect its merchant members from appeals it considers not warranted, George I. Warren, managing secretary of the chamber, reported this morning.

"Every merchant member of the Chamber of Commerce has become a member of the donations division and has taken out one of the pledge cards binding them to make up any donations over two dollars except to recognized and specified organizations, to fairly report all money applications for donations and to refuse donation advertising," Mr. Warren said.

"Promoters of charity racketeering and requesting donation advertising from which the merchant had no hope of reaping a reward for the use of word racketeering. The organization of the division has brought a revelation of the extent to which it has grown."

"The personnel of the committee necessarily has to be secret but it has been very active. Dozens of applications have been dealt with. Many of them have been rejected and the committee has been called upon to sit nearly every day. The police are co-operating with us and Chief Reilly has expressed appreciation for the work we have done and which could not be done by his department in view of the fact that while many of the schemes are obviously unfair on the merchants they are within the law."

"Promoters of some of the schemes are people who have come to Victoria from outside points. We have had irate promoters protesting at the use of word racketeering. The committee, however, is investigating every proposal. Those promoting legitimate schemes have been given the go-ahead and in fact are most likely to be behind us in the war on these racketeers."

"The effectiveness of the campaign has been shown in the value of some promoters who have solicited merchants without the endorsement of the division. Instead of donations they have been shown pledge cards and have had to abandon their promotion schemes."

BOAT ENTERS LABATT CASE

Barnes, Ont. Aug. 24.—The talented police hunt for the kidnappers of John B. Labatt, London, Ont., however, converged again on Barnes today on mysterious activities of a postman on the Aux Sables River during the period the wealthy lawyer was held captive came to light.

Several persons reported seeing a motorboat on the river floating light signals to three automobiles grouped on the river shore near Fort Frank. These who said they saw the craft and its signalling were Dr. Harold E. Clark of Detroit, James Armstrong of Toronto and Leo Weiss of Fort Huron, Mich. The boat was said to have been on the river the night of August 12.

The report indicated Labatt might have been taken in the motorboat from the Kidnapers' hideout to the waiting automobile and rushed from that point to the outskirts of Toronto, where he was released early the following morning. An alternative explanation was that the reported sighting was paid over to the occupants of the boat by men in the waiting cars.

Good Entry List For Big Track Meet Here To-morrow

THE SPORTS MIRROR

WHAT IS the tremendous magnet which draws dad, mother and the kids to Beacon Hill Park for the comedy ball features Rebel Mowat and Co's Army put on there?

The standard of ball races rather low. And yet, while thousands thronged to see Rebel and his crowd do their song and dance number at Beacon Hill Wednesday, a scant hundred turned out to watch the play-off at Athletic Park which decided the finalists for the senior amateur crown.

Maybe it's the ringer Rebel works in on his games. He has a flair for promotion in securing such figures as Jimmy McFarlin and Lester Patrick on his team, and knows the color value of Indians and horses.

Or maybe it's the out-and-out burlesquing that gets the crowd. But better jobs have fallen flatter than any Co's Army pull.

Perhaps the out-of-door freedom of the park on summer evenings has something to do with it. But the park was never popular Wednesday night as it has been since the boys started to put on their shows.

And then again the fact that it is a free performance may have a great appeal. However, the fans who can afford to usually contribute fairly well.

Whatever it is that pulls the crowds to the park when they might be better off after their supper, it's plenty strong. And as long as the happy-go-lucky boys who put on the performance continue to devote their energies to helping charitable organizations with their collections they merit all the support that can be given them.

The Army puts on anywhere from an hour and one-half to two hours good clean fun. They make their dishes to please the public palate. And they certainly put their ball games over with a bang.

Victorians will have an opportunity to-morrow to pay tribute to the city's latest rising star in the sports firmament. Joe Addison will star in the track meet at Macdonald Park.

But before he digs his spikes into the turf track he will receive a special presentation from those who appreciate his work in helping to put the city on the athletic map. It will be a surprise, but he will receive a letter from the city council.

When sea flies drive from all parts of the island meet to stave off the competition, the outside challenges are offered at Cowichan Bay on Labor Day, some exceptionally fast dashes are expected to furnish abundant thrills for followers of that game.

It is understood members of the local boat racing association are supplying up engines and trying out new models in preparation for the various events for which thirty prizes have been donated.

By next season the James Bay Athletic Association expects to have equipment which will permit its members to form a regular eight.

One of the oldest rowing clubs on the Pacific Coast, the local association has repeatedly shown outstanding strength in four, doubles and single events. But until three years ago it had not put its huskies in the larger boats.

The boys made their eight-oared debut about three seasons ago when they met a crew from the Washington Athletic Club in an exhibition race during the P.F.A.A.O. regatta at Elk Lake.

On that occasion the local boys, completely untried in the larger shells, showed good form to place but a short distance behind their more experienced rivals.

Early this season the club sent a crew to Seattle and raced in another borrowed boat, being beaten by a small margin by a Sound City squad.

They won their first eight-oared event at the Portland Regatta, regatta, returning to Victoria with a fine plaque, emblematic of first laurels in their class.

At the last P.F.A.A.O. meet in Vancouver they borrowed another boat, the better of two owned by the Harbor boys, and proceeded to trim their heads in another good contest, winning the Owens Cup trophy presented this year for the first time by Inspector Robert Owens, officer commanding a division of the British Columbia Police.

In the hope of retaining this award and getting in the necessary practice to put them in shape for that task as well as prepare them for other big events, they will spare no effort to secure a shell.

Vince Forbes And Harrison To Lead Outside Athletes

Girls Promise Keen Competition in Events at Macdonald Park Track

HALF-MILE DUEL TO BE FEATURE

On the perfectly conditioned turf of Macdonald Park, leading track and field performers of the city, Vancouver Island and one or two outside points will match strides in Victoria's biggest open meet of the season to-morrow afternoon. According to the entry list released to-day by Archie McKinnon, Y.M.C.A. coach, keen contests will be seen in virtually all events, the first of which will start at 2:30 o'clock.

Main outside opposition is expected from Vince Forbes and Jim Harrison of Vancouver. Forbes, a one-time state second to Percy Williams in the province, while Harrison, a member of the Vancouver Police Department, cleaned up nicely on the Terminal City police sports.

But the star of the meet will undoubtedly be young Joe Addison, who will furnish the feature of the afternoon when he races Chuck Cunningham, Y.V.C.A. star, who has won every important half-mile race, including the provincial championship, which he defended in British Columbia this year.

Cunningham, a fine pace runner, will be up against one of the strongest half-milers in the Empire when he meets Addison, who placed third behind Phil Edwards in the Canadian championships this year.

Outstanding competition is also expected in the girls' section of the programme. With a good team of considerable size grouped at the meet, McKinnon hopes to provide plenty of opposition for Yvonne Dinsley, Dunsmuir Junior Canadian hurdler champion, and Margaret Thompson, Nanaimo star.

Over to the larger entry received for the men's century dash, that event will be run in heat, with Vince Forbes and Harrison ranked as favorites. Surplus looks like a good local bet for a place along with Bill Matthews of the Navy. Paul Rowe and Arnie Phillips are a pair of local juniors who may show up well.

In the majority of other events close finishes are expected. The field has been rounded off well and the set up for the meet is particularly good.

Children will be admitted to the local meet free of charge.

Champions Being Decided To-day in Annual Tournament at Banff

Banff, Alta., Aug. 24.—Yesterday was a day of semi-finals for the men's Willingdon Cup and the Women's Associated Screen News competitions and the ranks were all thinned down to the final pairing for each flight in Banff's golf week.

The high wind of yesterday threw a good many of the golfers off their accustomed form, but on the whole there were very few unexpected results. In the championship flight of the Willingdon play, N.R. Major Hockey Clubs Open Play Nov. 15

Montreal Maroons and Chicago Black Hawks Will Pity Off Lid in National Hockey League at Montreal; Canadiens Still Anxious to Part With Morenz

Montreal, Aug. 24.—If tentative dates now under discussion are definitely decided on, the National Hockey League will open its 1934-35 season in Montreal November 15. It was learned here to-day, Montreal Maroons will entertain Chicago Black Hawks, the world champion, here on that date. The other Montreal team in the league, Canadiens, will meet Detroit Red Wings here November 17 to open their campaign.

From the same source it was learned a party of twenty Maroons, including Toe Blake, Hamilton, Ont., and Sammy McCue, Montreal, N.B., will open their season for a gold cup and purse. The series will open October 20.

A party of twenty Maroons open their training activities, they are scheduled to hook up with New York Rangers in a three-out-of-five game series for a gold cup and purse. This series will open October 20.

Toronto, Aug. 24.—Mike Rodden, sports editor of the Toronto Globe, in his column to-day said Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League still adhere to the decision made last spring to trade Horie Morenz, center, if any club offers a suitable player in return.

Rodden says Joe Cattarino and Leo Dandurand, officials of Canadiens, would like to obtain Joe Primeau from Toronto Maple Leafs, believing he would be popular with Montreal Frenchmen and would be a star performer with Canadiens with Aurel Joliat and Johnny Gagnon.

He adds, however, that Maple Leafs are not in a position to supply the demand and declares New York Rangers and Boston Bruins are also in the same position.

Conny Smyth, manager of the Leafs, has no intention of parting with Primeau, Rodden says, as he refused to break up the famous "kid line" of Primeau, Harvey Jackson and Charlie Conacher.

He states that "Porky" Levine, net guardian of Kansas City in the American Association, is slated to join Chicago Black Hawks if Joe Stark, Toronto, fails to make the grade.

Famous Scullers Meet At Toronto

Bobby Pearce, Eric Phelps, Bert Barry and Bill Miller in Opening Heats To-night of World Championship; Pearce and Miller Favored to Gain Final

Toronto, Aug. 24.—Four of the world's leading professional scullers will compete to-night in the first heats of the world's professional sculling championships at the Canadian National Exhibition. Pearce, described as in the best condition of his career and rowing more smoothly than ever, will meet Phelps to-night. The Australian easily defeated Ted Phelps, Eric's brother, to win the crown in his first professional appearance.

HEMSLEY IS TAKING REST

Fighting Catcher of St. Louis Browns Suspended By Manager Hornsby

St. Louis, Aug. 24.—Hard-boiled Rogers Hornsby and his star catcher, relieving Rolfe Hemsley, who surprised the baseball world by their ability to get along, fell out with a bang yesterday.

The Browns' manager slapped an indefinite suspension on Hemsley after the so-called catcher had been locked on the nose by a Philadelphia policeman. Hornsby said the suspension probably will remain for the rest of the season.

Hemsley and policeman Frank Doyle got into a disagreement yesterday. Hemsley, the officer said, was in no shape to drive the automobile he had hired. One word led to stronger ones and Hemsley started swinging, whereupon Officer Doyle sent a fast one to Rolfe's nose and arrested him on charges of drunk and disorderly conduct.

Rolfe was discharged at a hearing before a magistrate. Hornsby said he had other trouble with Hemsley on the trip, "but this is the finish."

RAY STEELE BEATS KRUSE

California Grappler Uses "Unconscious" Hold to Win at Vancouver

Vancouver, Aug. 24.—Ray Steele, 106, Glendale, Calif., used his "unconscious" hold to advantage here yesterday evening when he won the main event of a mat card from Bob Kruse, 300, Portland, Ore., with two of three falls.

The Portlander drew first blood in the second with a reverse wrist lock and body press. Steele, however, turned on the heat in the fourth and applying his unconscious hold, evened the count. He took the deciding fall in the next round with the same hold.

"King Kicker" Cox, 190, Los Angeles, defeated Dick Daviscourt, 210, Okla. home, by taking the only fall of the match in the third round with a reverse hold. Cox applied so much pressure on the hold that it is believed Daviscourt's ankle was broken.

Casey Colombo, 197, California, downed Joe Donovan, 160, Salt Lake City, with a reverse body slam and body press in the second round. It was the only fall of the match.

Former Californian, top-seeded Americans in the invitation women's doubles tennis tournament, were upset in the semi-finals yesterday by the second-ranked English combination of Katherine Stammers and Brenda James. The score was 6-4, 6-4.

Walkers to Take Part in Marathon

A standard 50,000 metre marathon and handicap race will be held on Thanksgiving Day around Vancouver and Point Grey. It is being sponsored by the Lanesboro Society, who will donate a cup and medals for the fastest walkers.

Entries will be given to all those who wish to take part in the marathon, for the purpose of the race is to discover the fastest walkers to send to the next Olympic Games and to promote greater and fair walking.

The race is open to all men sixteen years of age and over and will be held under Amateur Athletic Union rules.

All particulars can be obtained from A. Rile, 1940 West Twenty-seventh Street, or J. R. Abraham, 1346 Arbutus Street.

English Football Season Will Open

1,000,000 Fans Expected to Turn Out For Initial Matches To-morrow; Arsenal, Defending Champions, Will Tackle Portsmouth; Other Good Games on Card

London, Aug. 24.—About 1,000,000 fans will turn out to-morrow to witness the opening of the new season. The team of the English Football League, as usual two weeks behind the Scottish, open the long grind to the league championship and the cup final next April.

Probably 500,000 will be collected in gate receipts in the four sections of the league, and spectators will pay another $125,000 to get to the opening matches.

Arsenal, league champions for the last two seasons, travel to Portsmouth for the initial engagement.

Only one change above in the Portsmouth lineup. R. Belmont, a reserve last season, replacing J. Allen, who is now with Aston Villa.

Arsenal have secured Jack Marshall from Glasgow Rangers, W. J. Grayson from Bradford and W. Coppington from Leeds. Coppington goes right into the first eleven and will be in to-morrow's lineup; the two others are with the reserve for the time being.

OPENING LINEUP
Arsenal's opening lineup is as follows: Moss; Hale and Hapgood; Hill, Roberts and Coppington; Ruane, Bowden, Daniels, James and Beattie.

Tottenham has a very useful side this season. Against Everton, their visitors for the opening encounter, they will rely on this lineup: Nichols; Chambers and Whistler; Evans, Rowe and Alford; McCormick, O'Callaghan, George Hunt, Hall and Willie Bond.

With their new stand built opposite the old one the grounds at White Hart Lane will hold 75,000 persons, of whom 50,000 are under cover. There is also a special enclosure which will hold about 1,000 boys, who may gain admission at a special gate. It will be completed for the match with the Villa next week.

Everton are reintroducing the veteran right-back, Warford. Crawford, Claude Donohue, himself, now fully recovered, leads the team from the top of the table.

EXPECTED RECORD CROWD
The record crowd is expected at Birmingham, where a great match is promised with Aston Villa, and other highlights of the opening programme is the match between Preston North End and Grimsby Town, the first home game of Grimsby.

In the second division, most attention is probably being paid to the match between Bradford and Norwich City and Brentford. Norwich City are moved up from the third division, southern section. Barnsley, the other promoted club, go to Bradford.

Chelsea Pensioners, who stayed in the first division after a grim battle at the bottom of the heap last season, are relying on the same eleven as last year's last game, with Chelsea, but are unable to get an inside berth. Fulham, in the second division, have only one new player in the lineup against Plymouth to-morrow, Clarke from Third Lanark, at outside-right.

Glasgow, Aug. 24.—To-morrow's encounters in the Scottish Football League, already off to a flying start, will probably see a beginning of the well-known process of changing the teams into something like their accustomed places.

At present, with three games played all round, the champions Rangers are in their proper berth—undisputed possession of the leadership. The Rangers, winners of the league for two seasons, have had to trouble as far with Dundee, Motherwell and Hearts, and Dundee should be even easier for the champions to-morrow.

Second place is contested by Clyde and the Hibernians, who were very down the list last season. These two teams have two wins and a each. Clyde go to St. Mirren to-morrow while the Hibs entertain Aberdeen.

MOTHERWELL CONFIDENT
Motherwell took their only defeat to date at Rangers' grounds a week ago. They beat Celtic in mid-week and expect to do the same with Queen's Park to-morrow, being at home again.

Albion Rovers and Dunfermline, promoted from the second division, have found the going tough in the first section so far.

The former have an even break on points with a win, loss and draw, but Dunfermline has taken a draw with two losses. They tackle Ayr United and Hearts, respectively, to-morrow.

The second division is considerably mixed up, with four teams so far beating the odds—Dundee United, Leith Athletic, Raith Rovers and Glenheadburn. This alignment will be upset to-morrow. Leith and Raith Rovers clash on the latter's grounds, while Dundee engage Third Lanark, promoted from the first division.

Favored Pair Defeat Berkeley Bell and Gregory Mangin in Three Sets at Philadelphia; Alison and Van Ryn Are Still in the Running

Philadelphia, Aug. 24.—The victorious march of Lester Stoefen and George Lott in quest of their second straight United States doubles tennis crown, took the giant Californian and the crafty Chicagoan safely past the semifinal barrier into the championship round yesterday, but their greatest opposition still remains ahead. The duo they will oppose to-morrow will represent the cream of an international field of thirty-two teams, which began play Monday.

While Stoefen and Lott were conquering the fast-moving eastern Berkeley Bell, New York, and Gregory Mangin, Newark, N.J., 6-1, 7-5, yesterday to slip into the final, the surviving invading threats, Rodrick Menzel, Czechoslovakia, and Vernon Kirby, South Africa, eliminated Frank Shields and Sidney Wood, in five brilliant sets, 6-4, 12-11, 6-4, 7-6, 6-3.

VETERANS STILL IN
Before the "outsiders" can hope to meet Lott and Stoefen in the final, however, they must overcome one of the greatest doubles teams in the history of the game—Wilder Allison, Austin, Tex., and John Van Ryn, smiling Philadelphia. These former champions and Davis Cup teammates had an off-day yesterday after reaching the semi-finals in Wednesday's play.

Some of the teams follow: Five C's—F. C. Payne (capt.).

John G. Jackson, vice-president of the U.S.A. committee in charge of the thirty-eighth annual championship is scheduled to meet next week, when the method of pairing the contenders will be decided officially, but Jackson, a member of the committee, declared: "It is my guess it will be a blind draw, just as they have in the British amateur."

Now "Sandy" Somerville and four other front-rank players of Canada are qualified to play in the tourney.

National Baseball League Champions Overcome Jinx to Whip Paul Dean 5 to 3 and Increase Lead Over Cubs; Yankees Slice Game Off Detroit's Margin

The New York Giants finally have succeeded in beating one of the pitching Dean boys from St. Louis, and that, in the light of what has gone before, seems to rank as one of the season's major achievements.

The first was enough to give the league leaders a margin of six and one-half games over the Chicago Cubs and seven over the Cards as they pulled out a last-minute 5 to 3 decision over Paul Dean, the younger of the pair.

At the same time the Cubs took it on the chin by a 9 to 4 count, with Brooklyn Dodgers administering the blow.

The Cards, aiming for second place, maltreated Carl Hubbell, whom they had beaten three times, to score all their three runs in the first five innings. As "Hub" went out, the Giants started scoring and a home run in the ninth by Joe Moore provided the winning clout.

HERMAN IS STAR
The Cubs were no match for Brooklyn despite a one-man uprising by Babe Herman, who drove in three runs with a triple and homer, and scored the other. The Dodgers smashed over five runs in two innings against E. L. Riddle, then finished by pounding Charley Root and Bud Tinning.

The New York Yankees reversed the process in the American League by cutting Detroit's lead to four games, a reduction of a full game. New York hammered Cleveland pitching for a 9 to 3 win behind Charley Ruffing, who made two hits and scored three runs in his own cause besides pitching.

The Tigers suffered their second straight defeat at Washington, 3 to 1, when Bob Burke limited them to five runs.

Buck Newsum, St. Louis, and Ted Lyons, Chicago, turned in a pair of brilliant pitching feats to win the other American League games. Newsum shut out the Philadelphia Athletics 3 to 0 and Lyons stopped the Boston Red Sox 7 to 2.

Pittsburgh Pirates staged a fine comeback to take the third National League contest from Philadelphia 6 to 5. Boston and Cincinnati were rained out.

Post Entries For City Links Meet

In order to keep the entry list for the annual city golf championship open as long as possible, it has been decided to accept post entries to the closing of the thirty-third qualifying round for the A Class event and the thirty-fourth round for the B Class event. The tournament will get under way at the Colwood Golf Club on Sunday with the opening of the thirty-fifth qualifying round for the A Class event and the thirty-sixth round for the B Class event. Bob Morrison is the leading champion.

Babe Ruth, hit and forty, rarely slides these days, but this remarkable action picture proves that the famous home run hitter will hit the dirt to defeat Detroit, something the Yankees must do to win the American League pennant in this, the Hamburg, but not in a regular, but scored on Henry's single in the third inning of the first game of the New York club's disastrous double-header with Milwaukee Tigers at the Yankee stadium. Detroit took both ends, 5-4, 7-5. The slugger is Louis Kolb.

Winnipeg Wheat Is Fractionally Lower

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, Aug. 24.—Trading languished in to-day's session of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, even the close being devoid of activity as wheat futures prices, weak throughout, ended $\frac{1}{8}$ to $\frac{1}{4}$ lower.
At the finish prices were only fractionally above the day's opening levels, the October future at 84 $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢, December 85 $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢, and May 86 $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢.
Despite export sales of 500,000 bushels of Canadian wheat, future traded under the previous close for most of the session.
Reports of frost in the prairie provinces failed to stir the trade.
Liverpool failed to give a lead to the market to-day, prices there closing $\frac{1}{8}$ to $\frac{1}{4}$ lower after a firm opening. Cash grains were quiet.

Chicago, Aug. 24 (Associated Press).—Distinct apathy characterized the grain market to-day and a sluggish demand caused wheat prices to fluctuate narrowly about the previous day's closing quotations. An initial price improvement in wheat was followed by reactions of about a cent. At the close, however, wheat showed fractional gains all around.

Wheat advanced $\frac{1}{8}$ to $\frac{1}{4}$ ¢, as compared with yesterday's finish, December new closing at 81 $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢ to 81 $\frac{3}{4}$ ¢, the high for the day, May ended at 81 $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢ to 81 $\frac{3}{4}$ ¢, and September new at 81 $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢ to 81 $\frac{3}{4}$ ¢.

FURTHER CUTS FOLLOW WHEAT

Associated Press
Washington, Aug. 24.—The Agricultural Adjustment Act may follow up its intent by forcing wheat producers to cut their normal wheat area of 62,000,000 acres down to only 42,000,000 acres. Under average conditions this is expected to produce a crop of 77,000,000 bushels.
As for cotton, the goal probably will be set at between 22,000,000 and 30,000,000 acres, compared to this year's 35,000,000 and the normal 40,000,000, officials said.
Figures for corn and hogs cannot be arrived at until this year's corn crop is harvested and pig production is known. Because of the expected short crop stimulation of production is regarded as probable to furnish sufficient feed in the fall and winter of 1935.

NEW HOME FOR IMPERIAL BANK

Building to Cost $1,000,000 Will Be Erected at Toronto

Canadian Press
Toronto, Aug. 24.—The Imperial Bank of Canada to-day announced it would erect a new building here to serve as its head office. The new building, a six-story structure of steel and concrete, will be built on the intersection of King and Bay Streets, will cost about $1,000,000.

LONDON EXCHANGE
London, Aug. 24 (Associated Press).—The United States dollar appreciated 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ cents to-day, closing at 80.07 1/2, compared with the overnight rate of 80.05 1/2 to the pound. The opening rate was 80.05.

Pressure against the pound increased with demands for foreign currencies, mainly to finance essential imports. All gold currencies strengthened.
The French franc marked a new high of 75.25 to the pound, then closed at 75.25, compared with yesterday's figure of 75.05. It was supported by the return of capital to France and a rise in the price of gold.
Owing to the fall of the pound, the price of gold rose 7 1/2¢ to 133 1/2¢ ($135.25), a fine ounce, and an amount valued at $200,000 ($1,335.25) was purchased.

LITTLE HOPE FOR QUOTAS

Delegates of Adjourned
World Wheat Conference
Meet Privately in London

Canadian Press Cable
London, Aug. 24.—Word of the ten per cent export reduction in the United States for the ensuing year, instead of fifteen per cent as planned, reached London to-day as delegates to the adjourned World Wheat Conference opened private negotiations in an endeavor to settle the problem of export quotas for the current crop year.

It was considered highly unlikely, however, any concrete program could be made either with the quota question or on the question of further export reductions, the two main objectives of the conference which it failed to reach.

The quotas difficulty largely hinges on the refusal of the Argentine to make any concession on restricting her shipments.

On the acreage reduction question, in addition to the American development, a chief stumbling block is the fact Australia is at present engaged in a general election campaign and her delegates make no commitment until after the elections next month.

Many delegates predicted Argentina would vote out to the end and get the 150,000,000 bushels she demands for export. This is 60,000,000 higher than last year, but during the past crop year the Argentine actually shipped very close to 150,000,000 bushels.

John J. McFarland, chief Canadian delegate, said to-day, giving other delegates a final notice that Canada would not be satisfied with a quota of 100,000,000 bushels.

FAIL TO LAND
ILLEGAL CARGO

Governor of California
Roused in Middle of Night to Stop Unloading of Oil

Washington, Aug. 24.—Harold Ickes, United States Secretary of the Interior, said yesterday quick action by federal and state officials had beaten an attempt of the oil tanker Papoose to land in San Francisco 5,000,000 gallons of gasoline, some of which allegedly was produced illegally.

The vessel, of United States registry, sailed from Houston, July 30, for the West Coast. Enforcement agents of the oil administration were told that intermingled in its cargo was some gasoline produced in east Texas from crude oil produced in violation of regulations.

A BRILLIANT PHOTOGRAPH OF THE CHALLENGER

Caught from the air, at an unusual angle, the British yacht Endeavour, which will race against a picked United States craft next month for the historic America's Cup, under the guidance of T. G. M. Sopwith of
